LETTER FROM OUR BOARD CHAIR AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The past year has served as a turning point for Little Bit in several ways that have made quite a difference for the organization and for our future.

The impacts from COVID began to lessen allowing programs to begin their return path to previous service levels. There are lag points along the way that need a bit more time, such as recruiting and training volunteers after losing over half our volunteers during the couple of years where we were plagued by COVID. In addition, training programs for new instructors halted during COVID, so our pipeline of instructors for our Adaptive program dried up. We are now training instructors again and that will help us serve additional riders in the program in years to come.

Our auction guests in 2022 were SO excited to be back together again after the few years of being apart and they raised the roof in terms of donations! The enthusiasm and excitement in the room were palpable and the donations reflected it!

We completed the building of our Hay Barn entirely through contributions from a combination of corporations, foundations, and individuals. We are now able to purchase and store large quantities of hay saving the organization our hard-earned funds.

We ended the year with net revenue, and, through careful stewardship, conservative budgeting, successful events, and generous donors, we were able to budget salary increases for our staff, bringing everyone up to at least the bottom of market rate salary ranges. This will help us attract and retain staff—not an easy thing to do in this post-COVID marketplace.

Thank you ALL for supporting us and helping us get through the challenging times and the exciting times! Our future looks bright.

THERAPY

Hippotherapy is a physical, occupational, or speech-language therapy treatment strategy that utilizes equine movement combined with standard techniques as part of an integrated intervention program to achieve functional outcomes. The physical therapist focuses on skill areas related to gross motor abilities such as, but not limited to, sitting, standing, and walking. The occupational therapist focuses on areas such as fine motor control, sensory integration, feeding skills, play skills, attention and self-regulation skills, and other functional daily living skills. The speech-language pathologist focuses on respiratory function, breath control, oral-motor function targeting articulation, fluency, auditory processing, expressive language, receptive language, and social pragmatics.

"Little Bit has become essential to our family over the past five years. Jordan has been able to maintain the ability to walk when she could be wheelchair bound. Being able to walk so many steps on the horse, versus what she would do in regular physical therapy, I think is so crucial. We see how much it impacts her life, there and away, and I don't think it's something that we could do without. Jordan has defied the odds of Rett Syndrome through the support of Little Bit, and we couldn't be more thankful!"

ADAPTIVE RIDING

Adaptive Riding is recreational horseback riding lessons for individuals with disabilities. The goals are riding-skill based; however, individuals and parents often report many therapeutic benefits of participation. Adaptive riding lessons are taught by instructors certified by the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship (PATH) International who create a wide variety of games and exercises designed to meet each student's needs. Classes include arena riding, trail rides, and group activities.

"She's walking stronger, she has better posture, she walks faster, and she becomes a lot more verbal, more talkative after being on the horse. . . I just feel like the Little Bit team, everybody involved, is collaborative—they're in it with us. Everyone here treats not just Sanjula but the whole family with empathy, with understanding, so Sanjula feels very much loved and supported when she's at Little Bit."

—Beatrice, Parent of an Adaptive Rider

Learn more at littlebit.org/adaptive

"Caitlin has grown substantially in her ability to stand up for her needs and read non-verbal communication, a key to building and maintaining relationships. She is able to see the difference between healthy and unhealthy relationships and has been able to see how her behavior impacts the behavior of others through being very intentional with her horse. She is also able to anticipate problems and works to prevent them, which reduces overall stress levels. Through her work with desensitization, she has learned the importance of breaking down difficult tasks into smaller, more manageable steps."

—Melissa Cope, MSW, LICSW

EQUINE-ASSISTED LEARNING

Equine-Assisted Learning provides the opportunity for clients who are not interested in or not appropriate for mounted activities to grow their skills with their equine partners on the ground. These sessions are conducted by instructors certified by the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship (PATH) International to further the participants' education and personal development. Examples include: liberty work, clicker training, equine management, team building, leadership development, critical thinking, and more.

Partnered with Newport Academy, Cancer Lifeline, and Seattle Children's Alyssa Burnett Adult Life Center

EQUINE-FACILITATED PSYCHOTHERAPY

Equine-Facilitated Psychotherapy involves Little Bit partnering with mental health therapists to provide services at our facility. Therapists work hand in hand with a Little Bit staff equine specialist who is certified by the Professional Association of Therapeutic Horsemanship (PATH) International. Horses are uniquely suited to this program because they are intuitive and will react to behavior patterns and cues that people might miss, allowing the therapist to interact on a deeper level with their patient and address issues that might otherwise go unnoticed.

"I am always impressed with the care, love, and attention Little Bit showers on the horses. Each horse has a customized care plan including vet care, farrier care, body work, training, and nutrition; dedicated schooling riders to help them stay strong and supple; and a 'pony pal' volunteer to fuss over them, groom them, love on them, and take them for hand-grazing on grass. Not all horses are suited for this work; therapy horses are worth their weight in gold. Which is why Little Bit makes sure a horse is happy doing that job, supporting them in all ways possible, and giving them the love and care needed to stay their healthiest. It's been my honor to help in my own little way by volunteering and financially sponsoring my favorite horse, Molly. I believe in Little Bit's holistic approach to horse care and am happy to be a part of it!"

—Erica S., Volunteer

HORSES

Little Bit Therapeutic Riding Center program participants receive the highest quality services available. Our horses are a vital component and are cared for with compassion and a high level of expertise, provided by staff, veterinarians, farriers, and trained volunteers. We provide this level of care not only for the benefit of our horses' health and state of mind, but also with the knowledge that the better we care for our horses, the better they will be able to help fulfill our mission.

Little Bit was again awarded the Guardian Seal of Transparency by the EQUUS Foundation in 2022, a recognition of an organization's commitment to transparency and accountability by their willingness to make comprehensive data about their programs, horse care practices, and governance available for public scrutiny.

"To anyone who is looking to volunteer at Little Bit—you won't regret it. Little Bit does so much for so many people. They care very deeply for all their clients, staff, volunteers and horses. It's like having an extended family. You go home every day feeling good about what you did that day. You get to see the actual progress a client you are volunteering with is making. No matter if you are working with the clients, are a tack helper, or working as a barn buddy, they are all a part of what makes Little Bit work. YOU WILL LOVE IT."
